No Butter at Vassar.

The announcement at Vassar college that no more butter will be served at dinner has caused much discussion, but the girls promise to give the plan a trial, says New York World. It is a war measure, established on account of the high cost of living. The girls will have gravies, jellies and jams to take the place of butter. It was said that the college would lift the ban on butter for dinner just as soon as there were any complaints.

The hard-boiled egg for breakfast is doomed, too; at least it must not be served where omelet is to be had.

Because most of the girls have a sweet tooth, the college authorities will increase the sugar service at all meals; but this will be evened up by cutting down on meat.

Sheep-Killing Parrots at Large.

Not long ago no little consternation was created by the escape at San Francisco of two keas, or sheep-killing parrots, which were being shipped from Australia to the Smithsonian Institution, at Washington, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. The birds liberated themselves by splintering the slats of their wooden crates with their powerful beaks. The federal authorities offered a reward of $100 for each bird taken dead or alive. This species of parrot has made itself an enemy of man in both Australia and New Zealand by slaying sheep for the sake of eating parts of the flesh, of which it is very fond, and there bounties are paid for killing the birds.

Wouldn't Be Slighted.

The principal of a school once had occasion to lick a very refractory pupil. It was very meager punishment, but the child complained to his father when he went home that day. The next day the father paid the principal a visit.

"I understand," said the irate parent, "that you licked my boy yesterday."

"I did," was the reply, "but not severely."

"Well," said the father, "I want you to know that I am one of the largest taxpayers in this place and my boy is entitled to as good a licking as any other boy gets. If you slight him again, you'll hear from me in no uncertain terms."

Water Softened With Red Devil Lye

Cleans everything instantly. Soft water makes washing easy, and just a little Red Devil Lye in a tub of hard water softens it like rain-water.

With Red Devil wash water you use less than half the soap and the daintiest fabrics will be whiter than usual—with little or no rubbing—it's the rub that ruins.

Works Wonders

throughout the home. It will keep bath-tubs, wash bowls, toilets and kitchen sinks white, clean and sanitary. It whitens and removes grease spots from floors, windows, tile or marble, and does the household dirty work in a hurry—without trouble and with little expense.

Red Devil Lye also makes wonderful soap, peels peaches in a jiffy. It is the real housekeeper's friend.

Huntington.—J. T. Donahoo, engineer, and Sutton, his fireman, both of Russell, Ky., died at the C. & O. hospital from appendicitis. They were seized with the dread complaint while on the same trip over their "run" from Russell to Columbus, Ohio, last week. The men were attacked by the disease only a few hours apart.

Huntington.—That "dope" is being sold in Huntington, contrary to Federal laws governing the sale of such drugs, is the opinion of the police following the arrest of two men on suspicion. The men were held for further investigation, and it was believed the Federal authorities would take the matter up in an effort to ascertain if the "dope" laws are being violated here.

Huntington.—President Van Horn Ely and General Manager H. J. Crowley, of the American Railway Co., were in Huntington to make an official inspection of the properties of the Ohio Valley Electric Railway Co., which is subsidiary to the American Railways. This was part of the regular spring inspection tour. The officers arrived here from Roanoke, Va., and left for Springfield, Ohio.

Huntington.—One thousand, one hundred and forty-one war savings societies have been organized in West Virginia, according to a statement made public by Robert L. Clarksburg.—Twelve out of 14 samples of Harrison county soil tested at the regular farmers' meeting, at the court house by Prof. R. E. Crouch of the agricultural department of the Washington Irving high school, were found to be deficient in lime. Nearly all of the soil in the county needs about two tons of crushed lime stone to the acre, according to Prof. Crouch. The soil tests will be continued each Saturday, and farmers are requested to bring in samples.

Huntington.—Although she had not heard from her son for a long time, Mrs. Rebecca L. Rodgers, who died recently, did not forget him when she wrote her last will. The document, which was filed for probate in county court, leaves all her property to her two sons, Hector and Herbert, share and share alike. She stated that Herbert had been absent for a long time and she had not heard from him, but provision is made for his part of the property to be kept in trust for him.

Bellaire.—The board of education has announced that the study of German in the public schools would be discontinued at the close of this year. Only a few students are enrolled in the German classes, and even though the board had not decided to eliminate German, it is not likely that many students would have been enrolled in this department next year. The study of French was taken up this year and besides French and Latin, Spanish will be taught next term. The action of the board has met with favorable comment.

Notice

I have made arrangements with Hon. Chas. A. Reese, State Entomologist, Charleston, to come to Marlinton to talk to the people how to take care of bees. We want all those that are interested in bees to meet with us at Court House, May 15th, at 2 p. m. If you don't have bees, now is the time to start in the business. There is nothing more profitable. Quite a number of people did not take time to pack their bees, thereby lost heavy owing to the hard winter, but I advise them to not give up the business, as it was their fault.

We hope to have a great meeting, so come one and all.

Yours very truly,
L. D. SHARP.
